Message from the Chairperson

PeaceWin Nepal was founded on 10th Ashoj, 2047 B.S. and registered on 5th Poush, 2049 B.S. (20 December 1992) at the District Administration Office, Bajura. Since its beginning, the organization has been working for the betterment of children, women, and youth across different districts of Sudurpashchim and Gandaki provinces. Over the years, PeaceWin Nepal has developed strong experiences and understanding on social transformation and development dimensions.

Besides its regular programs, the organization has also been involved in disaster preparedness and response, and various events organized in Lumbini, Karnali and Bagmati provinces. These efforts have been shown us that working together is important for bringing positive changes in the society.

PeaceWin Nepal envisions “Empowered individuals, harmonious families, and prosperous, dignified communities.” Moving towards this vision, the organization believes in active engagement of civil society to complement the national development goals and contributing into the Sustainable Development Goals. PeaceWin Nepal prepares and updates its strategic plans regularly by considering both national and international development contexts. At the present, the organization has been executing its Fifth Five-Year Strategic Plan (2023–2027), focusing on building a just, harmonious, better and prosperous society.

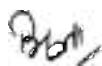

This Annual Report 2025 is an important part of our commitment to transparency, accountability, and good governance. It presents the key activities and achievements of the organization during the year based on its vision and working themes.

We would like to express our sincere thanks to local governments, government offices, partner organizations, community groups, networks, and all supporters for their valuable financial, technical, and humanitarian support in 2025. We are also grateful to the Executive Committee members, staffs and volunteers for their hard work and dedication.

PeaceWin Nepal looks forward to continuing this support, collaboration and cooperation from all stakeholders and well wishers in the coming years. We also thank everyone who have contributed to the preparation of this report.

Thank you.

Jay Avasar, Jay Vikas.

Child Development and Education

Quality and inclusive public education and child development is one of the major themes of PeaceWin Nepal. It ensures the best interest of the children through its strategic principles. In 2025, in collaboration with Plan International Nepal, Good Neighbors International (GNI), and United Nations Population Fund (UNFPA), various programs have been implemented at local and provincial level to improve access to quality and inclusive education, prevention of child marriage, promotion of child rights, and strengthen child-friendly local governance systems. The organization has supported teaching-learning aids, establishment of reading corners at home, and adolescent-friendly information corners in schools. The programs focus on teachers and school management committees' capacity building through training, workshops and excursion on inclusive and gender-responsive, and child friendly teaching, physical improvement. The organization has facilitated to local governments' education planning and child development strategies re/formation. During the year, it has assisted to early childhood development, extracurricular activities, parental education/awareness, and school safety planning and strengthen to create learning environment for the interest of the children.

Under the action of capacity and skill enhancement of teachers and management committees, it has offered training on Gender Transformative and Inclusive Classroom Management to 40 teachers, Inclusive Pedagogy to 40 teachers, and School Improvement Plan (SIP) preparation and updating to 63 School Management Committee (SMC) chairpersons and 10 head teachers. In a total 80 teachers have obtained training on Integrated Educational Management Information System (IEMIS) records updating and trained 16 teachers of eight schools on the ReAL Planning and implementation that benefitted to 500 and has conducted a survey to identify out-of-school children in four local level of Bajura District that identified 266 out-of-school children. For the purpose of reading habit improvement it has established reading corners in Five schools, 220 households, and book corners in four schools in Bajura.

PeaceWin Nepal has provided training on the preparation and use of Early Childhood Development (ECD) learning materials to 19 ECD teachers. A total 480 parents of 16 groups in the catchment areas of eight schools have been participated in parental awareness programs. Awareness campaigns have conducted for 356 community members on child protection through Child-Led Support Events and awareness campaigns, and contributed into the prevention of 36 child marriages. It has conducted life skills and self-protection training to 124 children, contributing to the improvement of their life skills, confidence, and overall well-being.

During this year calender the programs have facilitated in preparing the Out-of-School Children Procedure to to Triveni Municipality, Bajura. A workshop in Khaptad Chhededaha Rural Municipality to prepare the 10-Year Palika Education Plan and Integrated Child Development Strategy was conducted following the Palika-level education workshop. In this year, the projects have supported Triveni Municipality in developing a procedure of bringing out-of-school children back into the formal education system. A extensive campaign of child marriage-free communities to Malta, Padena, Mallo Sayal, Tallo Sayal, Boharabada, and Belkatya, a total six communities. The organization has supported the implementation of extracurricular activities in 12 schools. The activities conducted in Khaptad Chhededaha Rural Municipality and Budhiganga Municipality encouraged and motivated children to explore, develop, and showcase their hidden talents. It has supported the classroom management of two ECD centers and completed floor sitting in two schools.

Continuity in Rohan's Education Through Parental Guidance

Rohan Luhar is the youngest son of Bhim Bahadur Luhar and Ujyali Luhar of Budhiganga Municipality - 4, Banegaun, Bajura. His family's income source was from seasonal work in India. They all together are four members in the family, his parents and an elder brother. In search of income opportunity, the family had migrated to India in 2076 B.S. Beside his father all have been returned back in Nepal and his mother aterts retail shop at the village.

After returning home, a positive change was seen in Rohan's education. He is currently studying in grade 7 in Bhanodaya Secondary School. Parental education has inspired and convinced his mother to reenroll into school. After a hard effoert of this project action his father returned to the village to support his son's education.

With the support of Integrated Community Development Project operating in partnership Good Neighbors International Nepal and PeaceWin Nepal, Rohan's mother also has participated in parental education sessions. After that, she began visiting the school weekly, regularly discussing her son's progress with teachers and took interest about his learning. Teachers report that Rohan's academic performance is now satisfactory, with a learning achievement level of B. He has been regularly receiving educational materials and uniforms from the project. A study corner has also been arranged at home. His education is now progressing into a right direction.

A Courageous Journey Against Child Marriage: The Role of Rekha

Rekha (name changed), 14 of Dipayal Silgadhi Municipality, Doti was studying in Grade 8. Like many other girls in her community, early marriage was normal, and her family also has believed it as the honor to family and traditions. Her marriage date was announced and made all formal arrangements. For Rekha, this would end of her dream, education, and future life.

She had already felt the painful reality of child marriage in her own family. Her sister was married at 14 and later suffered from violence, and came back to her maternal home, and discontinued her study. This deeply has affected Rekha and made her fear about her life.

Rekha newlywed was 29-years-old, and knowing this she felt helpless and scared. But everything began to change when she joined a school RUPANTARAN sessions under the "Empowered Women, Prosperous Nepal" program implementing in partnership of UNFPA and PeaceWin Nepal. There, she has got awareness on child marriage and gender-based violence, its legal provisions, social harmful norms, and its future effects.

With a courage, Rekha shared her fear with friends, teachers, RUPANTARAN facilitators, and others. With their support, she raised her voice through the local child club and local level judicial committee. After several discussions with her parents, the marriage was cancelled.

She guessed the moment of life change at the time. Rekha continues her school and completes all sessions of RUPANTARAN and builds up life confidence, skill of leadership, and communication. Now she is the Vice-Chairperson of the Municipal Child Club and has initiated the regular campaigns against child marriage and gender-based violence in her municipality.

In recognition of her work, she was honored during the 16 Days of Activism against Gender-Based Violence 2025. Rekha says, "If I had not joined the RUPANTARAN sessions, I would never have had the courage of cancellation my marriage or understand its effects." Her father with a pride shares his changing consent that the daughter has been becoming as source of inspiration against the child marriage and life safety for other children. Rekha's story shows that when a child gets education, life skills, and community and family support, can challenge to harmful traditions and become change agents.

Leadership of Women and Youth

This theme focuses on strengthening and engagement of women and youth by establishing and re/forming women/youth groups/clubs and enhancing their management capacity. It enhances the leadership and life skills of adolescents through training, exposures, workshops and behavioral changes, rehabilitation to victims from gender-based violation and abuse. Community awareness on gender-based violence significantly increases through household dialogues and structured outreach activities. The initiatives also improve access to adolescent-friendly and protection services, including referrals to specialized support systems. Overall, it promotes gender equality, women's empowerment, and strengthened community-based safety mechanisms for adolescents and vulnerable groups.

During the project calendar the organization has supported in establishing and reforming 15 youth clubs in Bajura, and providing them sports materials, office management goods to strengthen their functions. Education into Action: Increased Use of Long-Acting Reversible Contraception (LARC)

Bajura Gaumul Rural Municipality, a review of reproductive health services showed that women had limited knowledge about long-acting family planning methods, especially Intrauterine Contraceptive Device (IUCD). Many women mainly relied on Depo-Provera injection. Fear and misconceptions about IUCD and limited of counseling on options, they have used injecting means.

To address this, an awareness program was conducted in the working area of Manakot Health Post. Primarily FCHVs have been oriented with technical support from health posts' staffs, focusing on the benefits, safety, and proper use of IUCD and other LARC methods. This has helped them sharing clear information confidently in the community.

After the orientation, FCHVs have conducted regular discussions with mothers' groups in their respective wards/communities. These have addressed to avoid myths, reduced fears, and encouraged women to visit health facilities for counseling and services. As a result, women have started visiting the health post and choice IUCD as a safe and reliable family planning option. This significantly improved the use of LARC methods and helped women to build confidence on reproductive health decisions.

Good Governance, Human Rights, and Democracy

PeaceWin Nepal promotes transparency, accountability, human rights, and democratic practices at all levels of organization development and program implementation through its governance-focused initiatives. Monitoring and Evaluation

To guide project monitoring processes, Terms of Reference (ToR) were developed and implemented. Internal and joint monitoring teams conducted field visits and collected information through observations, interviews, focus group discussions (FGDs), and document reviews. Based on the findings, monitoring reports were prepared and shared. Joint monitoring was carried out in close coordination with local government leadership, heads of relevant sectoral departments, the Provincial Health Training and Supply Centre and Sudurpashchim Province Research and Training Academy (SPRTA), Dipayal. The Programme Manager presented all internal and joint monitoring reports, along with the findings and recommendations from internal and final audits, to the Executive Committee for review. Based on these reports, the Executive Committee provided strategic guidance, recognizing good practices that should be continued while also recommending corrective measures and areas requiring further improvement. PeaceWin Nepal also completed its Annual Audit and Social Audit within the stipulated timeframe.

The Executive Committee, Programme Manager, Project Coordinators and Supervisors regularly monitored project implementation on a monthly basis and provided recommendations for continuous improvement. Likewise, the Administration and Finance teams conducted monthly, quarterly, semi-annual, and annual monitoring of both field activities and project documentation. Immediate feedback and on-site technical support were provided to address identified gaps and strengthen compliance with organizational policies and procedures. During 2025, all projects were monitored through both internal and external mechanisms. Regular review meetings, including monthly, semi-annual, and annual reviews, were conducted to assess implementation progress, identify challenges, and agree on corrective actions.

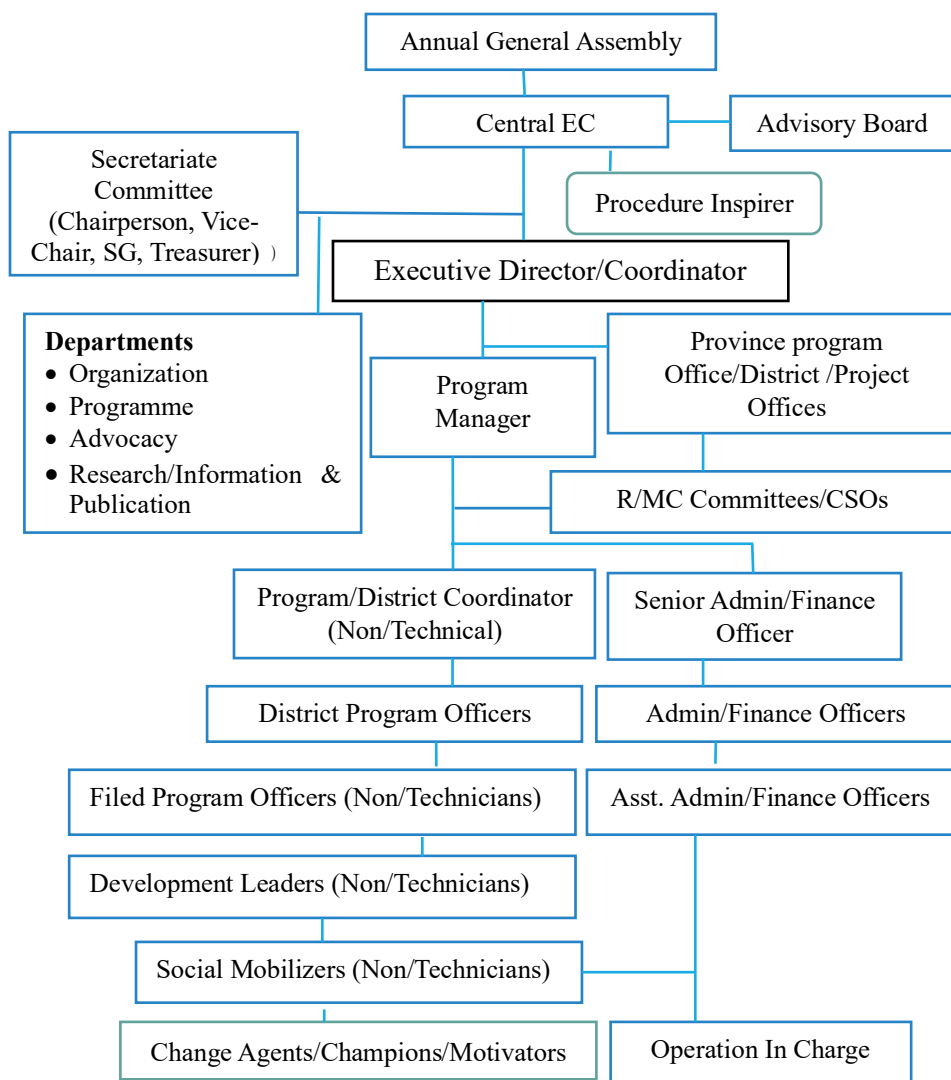

Annual project plans were endorsed by the respective local governments through their municipal or rural municipal council meetings before implementation. PeaceWin Nepal developed corrective action plans based on the findings and recommendations of monitoring reports. To strengthen accountability and ensure effective stakeholder engagement, the organization maintained accessible grievance and feedback mechanisms, including the Child Helpline (1098) for child protection concerns and a toll-free Complaint Response Mechanism (CRM) hotline (16609754000) for project-related complaints, feedback, and suggestions, in accordance with the organization's CRM Manual. During 2025, a total of 44 complaints, feedback submissions, and inquiries of various types were received through these mechanisms. As none of the cases were classified as serious, all concerns were addressed and resolved through telephone communication in a timely manner. Furthermore, recommendations received from monitoring visits conducted by local governments were incorporated into subsequent planning and implementation processes to improve project quality and effectiveness.
